Deep Distress at Radford Over the Condition of Colonel Miles.

the Condition of Colonel Miles.

(Special to The Times-Dispate).

RADFORD, VA., Feb. 1.—The news that Colonel George W. Miles is dring at the Memorial Hospital. Richmond, has plunged this little city in grief. Colonel Miles was the leading spirit of radford, in civic affairs, in business and educational matters.

In the social life of the city he was also the most conspicuous and brilliant figure. His broad culture, splendid intellect, delightful humor, magnetic and attractive personality, made him a charming companion, and Radford will never see his like again. The gap he will leave can never be filled.

General Lee said on the death of Stonewall Jackson that he could better have spared an army. The same can be said of Colonel Miles. His life is worth the lives of many ordinary men, and his-loss to the town, to the Southwest and the State at large is irrogarable.

Colonel Miles is a man of distinguished bearing, a charming conversationalist, a gifted writer and brilliant orator. He is also an able educator, a skilled inancier and a successful man of affairs. His genius is many sided. Two months age he became a member of the banking house of E. R. Chapman & Company, New York city, and was engaged in his new duties when called home by the illness of relatives shortly before Christmus. His own liness began about that time and be has gradually grown weaker, though the critical nature of his malady was not known here until yesterday.

Never In the history of Radford has such a calamity befaulen its pelpie, and in hundreds of homes all over the Southwest are aching hearts, because of the passing of this gifted and distinguished man, fro whom the future held such great things in store.

Colonel Miles is only forty-two years and the word firms and be brothers died while com-

Colonel Miles is only forty-two years old. Two of his brothers died while comparatively young—Fanning, a distinguished lawyer, or Bristol, and later of Arkansas, and Fielding, a professor at the Virginia Polytechuic Institute.

Colone Miles has two brothers living— Oscar and Plerce, prominent lawyers of Port Smith, Arkansas; also two sisters— Mrs. L. M. Venable, of Boston, and Mrs. John Pelham, of Anniston, Ala.

A BAD OISORDER

In the fall of 1895 I contracted that fearful disease, Blood Poison. It gained such headway that I was forced to resign my position and seek relief at Hot Springs.
After spending all the means I had I went to Memphis. In less than three weeks I was in a hospital, and after nine weeks of suffering I was discharged as cured. In less than a month every bone in my body seemed to be affected and felt as if they would break at the least exertion. Again
I was compelled to resign, and I returned to the hospital for a seven weeks stay.
When I came out I was advised to try farming. When I first went on the farm I prevailed on the only firm who handled drugs to get me one dozen bottlesof S. S.
At that time both of my hands were broken out with blisters and I was covered with boils and sores. In the meantime my druggist had gotten two dozen bottles of S. S. S. for me and I began its use, and after taking the thirteenth bottle not a sore or boil was visible. R. B. POWELL.

Of all human diseases, Contagious Blood

Of all human diseases, Contagious Blood Poison is the most hideous and hateful. The victim is tortured with eating ulcers, sores and abscesses, unsightly blotches, eruptious and other symptoms of the miserable disease. S. S. has been used successfully for nearly fifty years for Contagious Blood Poison. It contains no mercury, potabl or other mineral. Our home freatment book gives all the symptoms of this disease. LABOR UNIONS MAKE FIGHT ON CITY MARKET

Singular Conditions Now Existing in Newport News-Submarine Boats.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., February 1.-The opening of the city market, which was scheduled for to-day, has been indefinitely postponed because of the fact definitely postponed because of the fact that only two or three of the stalls have been rented. The labor unions are making a fight on the market, and have been since last spring, when non-union working here the building in repair. The contract was first let to a contractor employing only union men, but the lowest bidder, who employed non-union men, secured an injunction, stopping the work, and finally succeeded in getting the contract himinction, stopping the work, and finally succeeded in getting the contract himself. The Central Labor Union and all of the locals then proceeded to put the market on the unfair list. It is claimed that the fact that merchants entering the market now would have to pay a year's license for the use of stalls until May 1st is partly responsible for the fallure of the market to open.

Instruction No. 5 says: If the jury believes from the evidence that Dr. Lefew struck the prisoner, either with his fist or with the back of his hand, in anger or as an insult, and that an alteraction or scuffle ensued, in which Dr. Lefew sald, with an oath and epithet, "I will kill you."—and accompanied the declaration with an act or motion that placed the prisoner under a resonable apprehension that his life was in imminent danger, or under reasonable apprehension that his life was in imminent danger, or under reasonable apprehension of imminent danger of great bodily harm from the said Dr. Lefew, and under such reasonable apprehension of imminent danger the prisoner drew his kinfe and stabbed Dr. Lefew, they should find the prisoner not guilty.

All the other nstructions cover points of Fishburne's evidence as to the assault made upon him by Dr. Lefew. If the jury believes his statements on the stand and discredits the testinopy of many other witnesses, the verditt will be acquittal or will be reduced to murder in the second degree or manslaughter.

not be able to escape murder in the first degree.

At the afternoon session Common-wealth's Attorney Perkins opened the argument. He spoke for three hours, devoting most of his speech to the instructions and the value of Mrs. Moyler's testimony. At the conclusion of his speech Judge Robertson remarked that he had spoken for a long time, but had not stated the nature of the crime with which Fishburne was guilty.

Mr. Perkins repiled that if the jury believed that Fishburne was butside the gate and Dr. Lefew on the inside, and Fishburne went to the house with malice in his heart, he was guilty of murder in the first degree.

He was followed by Mr. Edward Robertson for the defense. He culogized the Fishburne family, and was very sovere on some of the witnesses, especially those who had been put on the stand to impeach the evidence of Fishburne's.

Seth Low Makes Engaging Address at the University of Virginia.

CHARLOTTISSVILLIE, VA. Feb. 1.—

the afternoon, and this evening he and Mrs. Low were entertained at dinner by President and Mrs. Alderman at their home, "Comyn Hall."

In his address Mr. Low referred to the fact that at the sesqui-centennial of Columbia University Dr. Alderman had said that he brought a message from the University of Jefferson to the University of Hamilton, and that he wished to be regarded for the moment as representing Columbia, in order that he might bring a return message from the University of Hamilton to that of Jefferson. These two great men, he said, stood for opposite political philosophies, the one teaching centralization, and the other contending for decentralization, and any etto-day we look back upon both as among the fathers of the Republic.

May we not, said the speaker, regard them both as needed to make of this country what it has been and what it is destined to be. Both of these forces were needed, and it is probable that out of these opposing energies the country has become what it already is. Mr. Low referred to the connection of both Jefferson and Hamilton with educational movements, and, coming to the University of Virginia, spoke with warm appreciation of its architectural significance, and of Jefferson's effort to create a new order in architectural significance.

preciation of its architectural significance, and of Jefferson's effort to create a new order in architecture in America.

Reference was made to one strong resembance between the methods of the two men. Hamilton had gone to Kings College, because that institution agreed to give him his degree as soon as he had the knowledge which it was intended to cover, leaving an institution which refused him that degree in less than four years, no matter how much he knew. years, no matter how much he knew and stood ready, according to the report ed statement, to confer it at the end o that period, no matter how little he knew.

'His application of the incident was that substance is the thing and not the form, and that rule should not be permitted to take the place of substance. He argued strongly in favor of a student folowing his bent. If one must make his living by employment that he does not lke, he should still not fall to devote his energies, as far as he can, to work in which his heart is. In this way the best which his heart is. In this way the dest that is in a man will come out.

Mr. Low's talk was received with much satisfaction. At its close the students gave the new yell, with Low's name at-tached.

He also criticised the death statement of Dr. Lefew, claiming that his friends were responsible for it. Speaking about Mr. Smith, he said that he was one of Richmond's ablest prosecuting attorneys, who had been sent here to persecute Fishburne.

Mr. Robertson was speaking when court adjourned until to-morrow morning. Mr. Robertson will be followed by Judge Phiegar and Judge Robertson, and Mr. Smith will close for the prosecution.

It is not believed that the case will get to the jury before Friday.

Judge Alken is anxious to hold night sessions, but lawyers are opposed to it. The crowd in the court room to-day taxed its capacity. It was orderly, and no demonstration of any kind was made during the speaking.

BE GOOD TO SAILORS.

New Chief Puts an End to Abuse Against Them.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., Feb. 1.—Chlof-of-Police Boush issued an order to-day that the pelicemen shall not arrest alleged descriters from the navy and take them to the navy-yard for the rewards offered by the government. Great injustice and some crueity has been perpetrated against the sailors for the rewards.

The practice has been to arrest alleged naval "stragglers" and "deserters," w.o. have overstayed their shore liberty granted at the navy-yard. For the delivery of "stragglers" the police would get $10 cach, and for "deserters" $30 each, the same to come out of the pay of the sailors.

Policeman Townley, recently arrested upon the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses from Ruby Ford, hid his first connection with the present case against him when he arrested the Ford woman's sullor husband as a deserter. It was after be arrest and delivery of the man at the navy-yard that it is alleged Townley represented to the woman that with sufficient money he could get her husband out and save him a year in prison for desertion.
